

Richard Dean, M.D.

As the senior physician at The Urology Center, Dr. Richard J. Dean's mentorship and years of experience in urology has laid the foundation for the practice, allowing it to achieve the notable status and recognition it enjoys. Board-certified in adult and pediatric urology, Dr. Dean has a strong interest in urinary stone disease and has been in practice for over three decades.

Building strong patient relationships for over 30 years as an attending physician at The Hospital of Saint Raphael and Yale-New Haven Hospital, Dr. Dean is currently serving as a Clinical Assistant Professor at Yale-New Haven Hospital and also serves as Associate Chief of Urology Yale-New Haven Hospital for over 10 years. He is a member of the American Urological Association, American Association of Clinical Urologists and the American Medical Association, as well as numerous medical societies.

Dr. Dean received his undergraduate and medical school degrees from Georgetown University and completed his urology training at Yale-New Haven Hospital. Subsequently, he served two years in the military at Fort Bragg and Womack Army Hospital as a Major in the Medical Corps.

A native of Connecticut, he resides with his wife in Branford. In his free time, Dr. Dean enjoys playing golf.