

Stanton Honig, M.D.

A nationally recognized leader in the field of fertility and sexual dysfunction, Dr. Honig possesses extensive knowledge and skill in the treatment of male fertility disorders and sexual dysfunction and is one of the few specialists in Connecticut to utilize microsurgery as a treatment approach in these areas.

As an acknowledged leader in the field of fertility, Dr. Honig presents at various national meetings and conferences, including the American Urological Association, as well as other distinguished medical organizations. He continues to author articles, papers, presentations and textbook chapters. He has been a significant contributor to the Journal of Urology, Fertility and Sterility and Urology and has served on the editorial board of the American Journal for Urological Review.

In addition to his duties as an attending urologist at both Hospital of Saint Raphael and Yale-New Haven Hospital, Dr. Honig is an Associate Clinical Professor of Surgery/Urology and Obstetrics and Gynecology at the University of Connecticut School of Medicine.

Dr. Honig is a graduate of the State University of New York at Binghamton and received his medical degree at SUNY/Stonybrook School of Medicine with distinction in research. Dr. Honig completed his urological training at Boston University Hospital, which was followed by the successful completion of a fellowship in Male Reproductive Medicine and Surgery at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, Texas.

Away from the office, Dr. Honig is an avid backpacker, hiker and tennis player.